History

The ECCO was first published in 1973 as the newspaper for the East Calhoun neighborhood, located between by Lake St. and 36th St. and between Hennepin Avenue and East Calhoun Parkway. ECCO (East Calhoun Community Organization) was preceded by the ECHO (East Calhoun Homeowners Association) newsletter. As the scope of the paper began to include the neighboring CARAG (Calhoun Area Residents Action Group), in 1981 the newspaper was renamed East Calhoun News to diminish the geographical restriction that some board members felt the previous name implied. The newspaper was a non-profit, independent newspaper run by the volunteer ECCO News Advisory Board. It was published monthly and sold advertisement space to local businesses. The paper was distributed from the east shore of Lake Calhoun to Lyndale Ave. between Lake St. and 36th St. East Calhoun News was published until at least December of 1995. The ECCO Board also served to welcome new residents as they moved to the neighborhood, as well as to organize events including a neighborhood-wide yard sale and an alley clean-up day.
