Patron Use of Library Spaces

Note: This policy is returning to the committee; the previous discussion was held November 19, 2025.

Request for staff (taken from minutes): There was interest in adding a reference to a statute explicitly prohibiting drug use on the property. Library administration will consult with the County Attorney about adding this statute and bring the feedback to their next meeting.

Staff consulted with County Attorney; advice is that the Library Board writes the policy; any changes made to the policy – or any Library Board policy – will be reviewed by the County Attorney's office. County Attorney, Jeff Wojciechowski, will be available at meeting to answer questions, as needed.

(From previous meeting)

Background:

This policy communicates the library's commitment to safe and welcoming spaces for our patrons. It outlines the roles and responsibilities of our patrons when they interact within both our virtual and public spaces.

This is a foundational policy; one that is directly connected to several other County and Library policies, as well as State Statutes. Most significantly, this policy is directly connected to the Patron Rules of Conduct administrative policy, which was updated January 2025.

Why This is Important:

"The purpose of this policy is to express the roles and responsibilities patrons have to ensure the library's physical and virtual spaces are welcoming, safe, and secure."

Library Administration

Hennepin County Library's physical and virtual spaces are exceptionally well-used by patrons. Due to the high volume of visits, it is critical that staff are prepared to address behaviors that could impact the safety and security of others.

This policy encompasses all the ways patrons engage in our library, such as interacting with library staff in person, online, or via phone, browsing the collection, picking up holds, attending programming, using public computers and technology, studying at tables, reading in lounge areas, or playing in early learning play spaces.

The data below gives you a snapshot of how active our spaces are:

Note: Library visits measure the number of visits to our 41 physical library locations.

- HCL saw nearly 4.8 million visits to our spaces in 2024, a 29% increase from 2023, and the highest visit volume since 2019. This is 3.7 visits per Hennepin County resident.
- Through mid-October 2025, HCL has had over 4 million visits, a 1.3% increase over the same period last year.
- An especially fast-growing use of library public space is patron use of HCL's meeting and study room spaces within our libraries, with nearly 71,500 public meeting room reservations in 2024, a 17% increase from 2023, and a 47% increase from 2019. 2025 is projected to be even higher yet, with a 9% increase through April over the same period last year. [Note: This is the most recent data available as this number is not automatically calculated.]
- Patrons also connect with library staff virtually through Ask Us services, with 39,000 interactions in 2024 across call, text, chat, and email.

This data reflects both increased demand from patrons, as they increasingly share that they value space to meet, collaborate, and work. Visits to physical library spaces are not decreasing, even as patrons increasingly borrow materials in digital formats compared to physical materials.

This policy supports staff in making the public library a space where patrons trust staff will provide a safe and secure environment for all.

Engagement:

- In October I met with the Library Youth Advisory Board (LYAC), they shared their thoughts and comments about this policy. Insights from that meeting include:
 - The team members are engaged and curious; they asked more questions than I did and they grounded themselves in understanding the purpose of library policies. They learned the difference between Library Board Policy, Administrative Policies, and Procedures.
 - Their overall reaction to this policy was positive. Here is what stood out to them:
 - Clearly stated roles and responsibilities for patrons; they appreciate knowing what is allowed/not allowed
 - Stated accountability if "rules" are not followed
 - Plain language, clearly written, easy to understand

- Recognized that some items were more specific than others; this led to a discussion about behavior not always being rooted in intentional "misbehaving". The approach to behavior may depend on the situation and the language of the policy supports that.
- Appreciation that the policy is regularly reviewed.
- When asked what was inspiring about this policy, here is what they had to say:
 - Appreciation that time is taken to consider all the perspectives; not forgetting stakeholders.
 - Inclusiveness: this policy is for everyone.
 - "All word choices are specific. Effort was put in to make it come out in a specific, yet broad way."
- When asked what concerned them:
 - The note that parents or caregivers are responsible for kids; the lived experience of the individual is one that did not involve parents or caregivers joining them in their library visit.
- The question, what is the importance of this policy, how does this policy apply to you?
 - General responses from everyone were that they like rules so they know what they can/cannot do. Also, they like rules so they can let their peers know if they are breaking those rules.
 - They don't think they are the "target audience" for this policy as they agreed that they follow the rules.
 - Having rules makes them feel safe.
 - Knowing the rules saves them from embarrassment. They do not want to be called out for not knowing the rules.
- Final question, what guidance and recommendations do you have for the Library Board Policy Committee?
 - Again, they thought the policy was clear, it made sense to them, and they appreciated having an opportunity to share their input and ask questions. They said that this engagement shows respect, and they feel like they are collaborators.

Library Bill of Rights - ALA

Background:

- This policy is verbiage taken directly from the American Library Association (ALA); the Library Bill of Rights is commonly endorsed by libraries across the country. The purpose of the policy is to affirm and endorse these rights. This policy is referenced in many of our other policies; these rights guide our decisions and affirm our commitment to the services we provide.

Why This is Important:

ALA defines the purpose of the Bill of Rights: "The American Library Association affirms that all libraries are forums for information and ideas, and that the following basic policies should guide their services."

This policy is referenced in seven of our policies, affirming our support. Access to information for all; protecting data; providing collections that include differing opinions; equitable access to all of our resources, including materials and spaces – all of these rights are foundational to our own mission to inspire, facilitate, and celebrate lifelong learning.

Library Bill of Rights

Hennepin County Library Board Policy

Purpose

The purpose of this policy is to affirm and endorse the following Library Bill of Rights as adopted by the American Library Association.

Library Bill of Rights

The American Library Association affirms that all libraries are forums for information and ideas, and that the following basic policies should guide their services.

- I. Books and other library resources should be provided for the interest, information, and enlightenment of all people of the community the library serves. Materials should not be excluded because of the origin, background, or views of those contributing to their creation.
- II. Libraries should provide materials and information presenting all points of view on current and historical issues. Materials should not be proscribed or removed because of partisan or doctrinal disapproval.
- III. Libraries should challenge censorship in the fulfillment of their responsibility to provide information and enlightenment.
- IV. Libraries should cooperate with all persons and groups concerned with resisting abridgment of free expression and free access to ideas.
- V. A person's right to use a library should not be denied or abridged because of origin, age, background, or views.
- VI. Libraries which make exhibit spaces and meeting rooms available to the public they serve should make such facilities available on an equitable basis, regardless of the beliefs or affiliations of individuals or groups requesting their use.
- VII. All people, regardless of origin, age, background, or views, possess a right to privacy and confidentiality in their library use. Libraries should advocate for, educate about, and protect people's privacy, safeguarding all library use data, including personally identifiable information.

Adopted June 19, 1939, by the ALA Council; amended October 14, 1944; June 18, 1948; February 2, 1961; June 27, 1967; January 23, 1980; January 29, 2019. Inclusion of "age" reaffirmed January 23, 1996.

Although the Articles of the Library Bill of Rights are unambiguous statements of basic principles that should govern the service of all libraries, questions do arise concerning application of these principles to specific library practices. See the documents designated by the Intellectual Freedom Committee as Interpretations of the Library Bill of Rights.

Process

This policy is reviewed by the Library Director (or designee) every four (4) years, or more frequently as needed. Recommendations are forwarded to a Library Board committee. The committee reviews and revises as necessary, endorses and advances to the full Library Board for approval.
