Night of Miracles
By Elizabeth Berg
Thanks to the inspiration of her dearly departed friend Arthur Truluv, Lucille Howard has begun teaching baking classes to stay busy. When tragedy strikes close to home, friends and neighbors discover the true power of community. This is a very poignant book. It brought back so many memories of my grandma.

To the Moon and Back
By Karen Kingsbury
Brady and Jenna shared a deep heart connection and a single beautiful day together at the memorial for the Oklahoma City bombing, where they both lost people they loved. Every year when he returns to the memorial, Brady leaves a note for Jenna in hopes that he might find her again. This is an inspiring love story, and I couldn’t put it down.

Shoot First
By Stuart Woods
Stone Barrington has faced intrigue before and come out clean on the other side, but this latest turn of events might be too scandalous even for him. There are so many times when things are happening in the story, and I wondered how it would all come out in the end. It was very interesting to see how everything was resolved.
